

Ready to resuscitate

Published: February 03, 2009 1:00 PM

Norene Parke, regional training officer with the BC Ambulance Service, oversees the resuscitation efforts of teachers at Parkland school, who spent a day learning the skills both to administer CPR and to teach the techniques to the school's students. The training was part of a program that works to ensure that all students graduate from high school with knowledge of CPR.

Cat George/News staff